The Whistleblower Award 2011 Dr. Rainer Moormann, Aachen and “Anonymous”

On Friday, July 1, 2011 at 7:30 pm, the Federation of German Scientists (FGS) and the German Section of the International Association of Lawyers Against Nuclear Arms (IALANA) will present the seventh Whistleblower Award at the Berlin-Brandenburgische Akademie der Wissenschaften (BBAW) in Berlin.

The Whistleblower Award honours individuals who, as insiders, have exposed grave abuses, dangers or aberrations in their professional field for the public good.

This year, half the award goes to

Dr. Rainer Moormann, Aachen

while the other half goes to “Anonymous”

who is responsible for releasing the video “Collateral Murder” to the public through WikiLeaks

Over the past years, Dr. Rainer Moormann has decisively contributed to reassessing the risk potential posed by pebble bed nuclear reactors, thereby putting an end to the myth of their “inherent safety”. He achieved this with his scientific publications and presentations, both in Germany and abroad, and his high-profile interviews and statements in the media.

“Anonymous”, a currently unidentified WikiLeaks informant, has disclosed a footage in April 2010 that documents U.S. soldiers committing severe war crimes. It had been classified by the U.S. administration.
After having been leaked, the video is now publicly accessible at the following url: www.collateralmurder.com. It depicts the targeted killing of at least seven civilians by a U.S. Apache helicopter crew on July 12, 2007, in Iraq.
